CORPORATE/BUSINESS PROGRAMS

Introducing the best new thing to happen to teambuilding in years: Challenge Discovery's Team Odyssey at the University of Richmond! Now corporations can build stronger leaders and more effective teams in a beautiful, easy-to-access location on the U of R campus.

What also makes Team Odyssey so exciting is that it's unlike any other ropes course teambuilding program. While ropes courses are traditionally individual events, this one is completely team-focused. Teams can succeed only when their members embrace their teammates, make good use of everyone's physical and cognitive abilities, execute a plan, and literally provide the stability and support necessary for completing challenges such as the "Matrix," "Complex X" and "Lateral Limbo."

- Builds stronger relationships for stronger teams
- Divides groups into "pods" of up to fifteen people who take on multiple team challenges from 20-35 feet in the air
- Simultaneously engages participants on the ground before and after their climb with energizers and initiatives
- Includes short debriefing sessions throughout in which Challenge Discovery facilitators help teams review their strategies and set goals to make upcoming challenges even more successful

The nice thing about teamwork is that you always have others on your side. You become successful by helping others become successful.
